Details	Student understands that a theme can change or develop over the course of a text and points to multiple specific details that show that growth. Students can identify multiple pieces of evidence that support the theme.	Student understands that a theme can change or develop over the course of a text and can point to more than one detail that shows that growth.	Student uses some details from the text to support the theme, but requires multiple levels of prompting to find them.	Student uses inappropriate or irrelevant details to support the central idea of the text.

Objective Summary	Student can combine the central idea/theme inferred with specific details to create complete summary of the text. Summary may be missing one or more key ideas or details, but remains objective and overall picture of the text is not affected.	Student gives an entirely objective summary, free of personal opinions and consistently uses textual evidence to support the central ideas found within the summary.	Student mixes personal opinion with some textual evidence when attempting to create a summary.	Student summarizes mostly (if not entirely) with opinions and does not create an objective summary.
